

Silvia Bellocchio's professional profile.

Dr. Silvia Bellocchio is a highly qualified biologist with strong scientific and digital skills. She holds a PhD in Histology and Medical Embryology and a Specialization in Medical Microbiology and Virology. Her professional background includes advanced research in immunotherapy, molecular biology, and biotechnology. She has extensive teaching experience in secondary schools and universities, combining scientific knowledge with innovative digital methods. Dr. Bellocchio has participated in numerous STEAM and digital education projects, including courses on AI, bioinformatics, and digital learning platforms. As an ABE Italy ambassador and trainer, she promotes inquiry-based biotechnology education. She is skilled in digital tools such as Office, online teaching platforms, and virtual reality educational App. Her work reflects a strong commitment to science communication and the integration of technology in modern education.